EXTRAGRIPHARY AND RIOTOUR PROCEEDING

—A DOCTOR'S HOUSE BARRLY ESCAPES MORBING.—At a late hour of Saturday night, a crowd of persons yisited the dwelling-house of Dr. Spiless, corner of Twelfth and Racestreets, and knocked so violently at his front and back doors that the Doctor arose and asked from the window what was wanted.

The spokesman of the party, a policeman, said that an Irishman in the crowd had lout his wife and believed that S. had her body in his house preparatory to dissection. The his wife and believed that S. had her body in his house preparatory to dissection. The Doctor denied all knowledge of the woman or her husband, and declared the whole story a fabrication; but, as the crowd was skeptical and clamorous, and manifested a disposition to mob the premises, the Doctor descended and opened the door, when the outsiders rushed in rudely and ransacked the whole house, acting in a violest and outrageous manner. The rioters then dispossed, but not before the Doctor had perceived that the afflicted widower was completely fusing—a fact he stated to two policemen, who refused to take him into custody.

The facts have since turned out as the Doctor surmised, and also that the Hibernian's

SUPERIOR COURT. APPLICATION TO APPOINT COMMISSIONERS TO SUPERINTEND THE ERROTION OF AN EXGINEHOUTER.—Ex Parts Hayes, City Solicitor. This was an application made to the Superior Court in General Term, setting forth that the City Council had passed a resolution appropriating $5,000 to the building of an engine-house, and requesting the application of three Commissioners to superintend the erection.

of three Commissioners to superintend the erection.

The application was made under the loth section of the "Ferguson Bill." Judge Spencer held that the statute was intended to apply to works or billidings at large, but was not intended to embrace all structures and improvements intended in anywise for the benefit of the city. This would devolve duties on the Court impossible to perform, and produce a degree of inconvenience on the city authorities, which would render a discharge of their duties exceedingly difficult. Application refused.

PROBATE COURT.

Application to Reduce Ball.—Application was made to have the bail of G. N. Munroe reduced. The party was charged before a magistrate with scultery, and had his bond fixed at $400. It appeared Munroe had formerly been an Episcopal clergyman, but had renounced the ministry. He came to this city a few weeks ago, and, it was alleged, had been living in adultery with a woman who came on here from New York, supposed to be the wife of an attorney in that city. The Court fixed the bail at $100, the State having consented.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE—A GIBL SEVENTEEN YEARS OF AGE SWALLOWS A QUANTITY OF LAUDANUM.—A young and quite good-looking girl, about seventeen years of age, named Keziah Gamber, residing with her widowed mother on Court-street, near Kossuth, attempted to destroy herself last Sunday night by taking opium. It appears that for some months past she has been receiving the attentions of a young man, whom her mother very much dislikes, and all appeals to induce her to discard him were unavailing.

Last Sunday evening he called upon her as usual, but the mother met him at the door in company with her daughter, and after telling him that she could not permit him to visit the house, again dismissed him. The girl, whose pride was wounded and her sensibilities shocked by the affair, immediately went to her room, and finding a phial containing about an ounce of laudanum, swallowed its contents and threw herself upon a couch to die.

contents and threw herself upon a couch to die.

A short time afterward the mother visited the chamber, and was surprised at the condition in which she found the girl. Her face was covered with a cold, clammy sweat, and her extremities cold almost as a corpec. She immediately summoned a physician, who discovered that the girl was dying from the effects of a narcotic, and by the application of the most powerful remedies, he at length succeeded in restoring her to consciousness.

The girl is still in quite a critical condition, although the symptoms are favorable, and there is every probability of her ultimate recovery. The mother, very much distressed at the affair, has almost broken her heart over the attempt of her daughter to destroy her life, and is still in doubt as to which is better, to permit the lover to renew his visits or to bury her child.

There can not be a doubt as to the ultimate result, for natural affection seldom manifests itself by fillacide. Most mothers prefer the happiness of their children to such an extent as to be willing to sacrifice themselves in this behoof, and this, we are sure, will prove no exception to the rule.

Some time ago a man named isaac Rosebaum was employed in Jackson, Michigan, by another named C. K. Rosebaum disposed of his goods at an alarming sacrifice, and authorized his wife to ship her household furniture to this city, care of Mrs. Morris, and meet him here as soon as possible.

The quarrel grew out of an animated discussion in regard to the respective merits of Heenan and Sayers, the lie was given, and Allen, drawing a knife, stabbed his opponent in the breast, inflicting quite a severe and somewhat dangerous wound. After an examination of the case the defendant was held to ball in the sum of $1,000 for his appearance before the next term of the Court of Common Plens. This, however, is hardly a fair criterion, for where there is so much eithusiasm there can be little criticism. Those pursons who have regarded her as great have been mistaken. She is deficient in the lower register, and the "Echo Song," although admirably sung, was, not so effective as it would have been if her lower tonce were store full and powerful.

Nevertheless, she sings with an cace which is remarkable, and trills away up among the leger lines with a finish that is wonderful. Her voice is marvellous in its dexibility, and her execution admirable. In this respect she was probably only excelled by Soiltag and Bosio, and will compare favorably with these.

Madame Strakosch, whom we have admired ever since she bore the name of Amelia Patti, has lost none of the piquancy, and in the hallad "Within a Mile of Edinboro' Town," and the "Brindist," from Lucresic Borgie, which she sung as an escore, drew down a perfect storm of applause. We can not prisse her rendering of "Ah! mon File," after having been familiar with the execution of the same aris by Parodi and Gazzaniga; but she is still an excellent contralto, with whom we always expect to be delighted.

We were somewhat disappointed in Gartano Ferri. His voice to us seems harsh, and although it has considerable compass, it lacks mellowness throughout. Altogethor, the concert was one of the most successful ever given in the city, and we regret that only one more is announced. The B. M. Pation No. 2, the Tennessee River Packet, was torn tosse from her fastenings at the city wharf, by the gale, and driven a considerable distance up the river, at the mercy of the winds. An anchor, was thrown overboard, but it could not hold her. The cable, a heavy one, was snapped like pack-thread, the anchor lost, and the boat was carried across the head of the falls, nearly to the Indiana above, where she lodged, hard last, in about 2½ feet water. The boat is uniqued, excepting that her jack staff is broken. She was lying some 200 yards above the mili-race. Capt. HAVING MADE USE OF VARIOUS Avinds of Sowing Machines for several years, I found them all more or less imperfect ise their construction. I therefore, determined to purchase one of FIRKLE & LYON'S make. I have been using it for a considerable time, and it affords me pleasure to acknowledge that I am highly pleased with it. The following are some of the advantages which this Machine possesses over all others:

1. It operates with perfect ease and facility.
2. It causes but little noiss.
3. It requires but little oils and does not injure the material to be worked upon.
4. As the shuttle runs in a cradic, the Machine is prevented from wearing out, and the throad kept free from oil and dirt.
1 can, therefore, with confidence, recommended all those who are in want of a Sawing Machine, the FINKLE & LYON MACHINE as the very best in the market, insanuch as its construction is very simple, and its exterior very near and elegant.
